SAFE EYES 2005 IS NUMBER ONE

Acworth, GA — Recently conducted independent and unbiased testing has confirmed Safe Eyes as the best Internet filter on the market. A total of 11 leading products were tested, including offerings from companies such as Norton, MacAfee, AOL, and Microsoft. When testing of all 11 products was complete, Safe Eyes was found to provide the best protection while also offering the most comprehensive and flexible features of any product.

Shane Kenny, President of SafeBrowse.com, commented, "This is a great honor, and I am very proud of the staff here at SafeBrowse. They have dedicated themselves to building the best filter on the market and it shows. We have always known that Safe Eyes was the best, but now we have these independent test results to prove it. Often companies claim to have the best filter but it all boils down to marketing hype. We can now say we are the best, and substantiate that claim."

Safe Eyes 2005 was a completely new build of the Safe Eyes product line that was released in October of 2004. Aaron Kenny, Vice President for Research and Development, put it this way, "Safe Eyes 2005 was built to be the best. We listened to our customers, learned what was working and what wasn't working in filtering, and built exactly what they needed. The job is far from finished though. More progress is yet to be made, but we are proud to be leading the way with innovative new ways to look at filtering."

Safe Eyes 2005 is available direct from SafeBrowse.com at www.safeeyes.com for $49.95 including a 15 day free trial.
